Do you want to lead a highly popular, diverse community secondary school in Hackney? Stoke Newington School & Sixth Form is proud of its award-winning reputation as a creative and vibrant school and the unique opportunities that this brings to our students, staff and community.

The current headteacher is leaving after 10 successful years, to be Director of Education for the borough. We are looking for a dynamic and aspirational headteacher or exceptional deputy with a proven record of leadership who:

- Can inspire students and staff to achieve at the highest levels
- Takes a creative and innovative approach to developing learning and teaching
- Celebrates diversity, equality and inclusion and is passionate about enabling high achievement for every student
- Has proven success at building teams

If you are enthusiastic about working with the community, parents, students and staff to continue to develop our academic excellence and our strong and popular focus on creativity and wellbeing, we would be delighted to hear from you.
